Dear Humboldtians, dear friends:

It is almost a year ago that we came together for the Humboldt Evening in Heidelberg's old city centre to visit the Museum of Antiquities at the Institute for Classical Archeology under the expert and dedicated guidance of curator Dr. Lohmann. This well-attended meeting was concluded by an Italian dinner below the castle on that perfect summer evening. Some photos can be seen on the German Society of Humboldtians' website.

Unfortunately, no further activities could be arranged in autumn and winter. The spread of the corona virus led to further interruption of our meeting schedule. We hope you are all doing well despite the fact that you are all restricted in one way or another in your professional and private environment while being connected to the scientific processes by various forms of electronic communication. This may currently lead to an inundation with emails or video conferences which is why we decided against an online Humboldt meeting. Instead, we plan a personal meeting in autumn or later during the coming semester as soon as possible and as soon as the hygiene rules allow such a personal encounter.

It would be delighted to be able to meet and greet you again personally in a relaxed atmosphere and assemble the scholarship holders, members and friends of the Heidelberg regional group, for an exciting Humboldt evening. You will hear from us again once such an evening meeting can be planned again.

With kind regards,

Johann M. Heuser, Frauke Gräter and Claudia Cabezón Doty
